

EDITORIAL

Dear Researchers and Readers,

We are excited to present the 3th issue of the BAU Health and Innovation Journal. This achievement wouldn't have been possible without the hard work and dedication of our entire academic and technical team, who have been involved from the initial concept to the final publication. We would also like to express our sincere gratitude to our authors, whose meticulous scientific work and dedication have enriched this journal, and to our esteemed reviewers, whose expertise and valuable feedback have helped raise these studies to the highest academic standards.

The BAU Health and Innovation Journal is dedicated to advancing knowledge across all fields within health sciences. We aim to be an interdisciplinary platform that encourages innovative research, incorporates diverse perspectives, and provides new insights. Following this mission, we publish a wide variety of contributions, including original research, review articles, and case studies. This issue contains four original research articles, two review articles, and a letter to the editor. Each submission went through a comprehensive evaluation process: initial screening by our field editors, expert peer review, and final approval by the editorial board, with revisions based on the feedback received.

We hope that this issue, produced with a passion for exploration and sharing, will have a meaningful impact on the scientific community. We look forward to receiving your future submissions and are excited to continue this knowledge journey together.

Sincerely,

Assoc. Prof. Ibrahim Can YAŞA
