

FROM THE EDITOR

Dear colleagues and friends,

It is with great happiness and excitement that we are releasing the first issue of the Turkish Endodontic Journal, the official journal of the Turkish Endodontic Society. It has been one of the biggest anticipations of our Society to gather our colleagues' work in a common platform and to enhance the interaction between the members of the Endodontic Community. The Turkish Endodontic Society, ever since its foundation in 1990 has continuously strived to maintain a standardized and qualified level in the dissemination of the knowledge of the Endodontics discipline in our country. With this intention, the Society is currently proud to be one of the world's well acknowledged organizations with important memberships as well as successful national and international congresses and symposiums. We believe that the Turkish Endodontic Journal will play a major role for the maintenance of qualified research and professional interaction among our colleagues.

In our first issue, you will find interesting case reports and their management as well as original research articles performed on contemporary concepts and techniques. On behalf of the Turkish Endodontic Society and the Editorial Board, I would like to express my gratitude to all my colleagues from all over Turkey for their contributions and support. I have no doubt that your valuable support will continue in the upcoming years to carry our journal to much better levels in the Endodontic Community. Your criticism and suggestions are always welcome and I definitely believe your feedback will guide the journal team to develop this scientific platform towards much better levels.

I hope you will enjoy reading our first issue which is a collection of hard work of our colleagues.

Best regards,

Jale Tanalp
